Adventure Coaching

What I do is life changing!

We take you on an adventure, we take you to a different environment than you have been to before, and we talk, we talk about everything that you want to talk about on the day! You will need to be open to answering all kinds of different questions and listen to the answers for you as well.

We want to know what is going to come up for you until we start our adventure together, I truly look forward to listening to you.

It's simple come and walk with us, you will feel the difference in the first walk and everything after that is a bonus. Everything that is talked about is confidential, it does not get repeated by either person on the adventure.

What do you need to talk about?

With someone that is 100% present and there to listen to you, challenge some of your beliefs, wants the best for you and believes in you.

Go on an adventure with the guy that can ask the right questions of you, for you, right now in your life, he asks so that you can find the answers that you need. Find out if you can join the list of clients and walk and talk with Matthew JF Allshorn.

Use the button on the right to find out if we have space for you and to find out if we can and are able to work with you Adventure Coaching.

Prices start from £159.20 (if a member of the Mastermind website) otherwise £199.00 with a minimum booking of 3 sessions.
